Trademark Description

The motion mark consists of a series of inflating balloons appearing against a blue sky above a white cloud-like formation. The mark begins with just the image of a blue sky above a white cloud-like formation, then moves to images of inflating balloons, one appearing after the other, all against a blue sky background above a white cloud-like formation. The first inflating balloon is green with a white design feature in its centre, followed by a dark blue balloon with a white design feature in its centre. In the next few slides, a percentage designation with the word ACTIVITY begins to appear with increasing prominence underneath the green balloon and a percentage designation with the word WEIGHT begins to appear with increasing prominence underneath the dark blue balloon, followed by the appearance of an inflating orange balloon with a white design feature in its centre and a percentage designation with the word INFO appearing underneath it with increasing prominence, followed by an inflating light blue balloon with a white design feature in its centre, and a percentage designation with the word PROFILE appearing underneath it with increasing prominence. The slides then depict an inflating red balloon with a white design feature in its centre and a percentage designation with the word CHOLESTEROL beginning to appear underneath it. As the red balloon inflates, and the percentage designation with the word CHOLESTEROL appears with more prominence on the screen, the light blue balloon starts moving off the screen to the right. The motion mark concludes with the red, green, dark blue and orange balloons appearing on the screen fully inflated together with the corresponding percentage and word designations appearing underneath them, and with the light blue inflated balloon and its corresponding percentage and word designation moving off the screen towards the far right.
