Trademark Description

The mark consists of a stylized "R" that consists of several straight and curved line segments connected to form the stylized "R" as if drawn from a single, unbroken stroke. The left line segment comprises a vertical line segment connected at the top to a straight horizontal line segment that eventually curves downward and inward to the left toward the left vertical line segment, but does not touch or intersect the left vertical line segment. The bottom portion of the curved line segment then turns into a straight diagonal line segment in the downward and right directions. The diagonal line segment then turns into a straight bottom horizontal line segment that eventually curves upward and slightly inward toward the left before cutting off around mid-height of the "R" mark.
