Description: This device is basically designed for measuring fabric. The measuring element consists of a knurled aluminum roller which is rotated by the fabric being pulled through the device. A rubber covered pressure roller maintains the fabric in contact with the measuring roller. Motion transmission to the dial indicators is by means of a gear belt drive system in conjunction with gear and shaft assemblies. A "SHARP" electronic calculator is mounted on the housing in line with the operator's dial indicator for price calculations.
